

ARE YOU LOSING THE RACE AGAINST INFLATION?

In light of recent market volatility, it's understandable why wary investors might be drawn to seemingly safe investment options. The downside of playing it safe, however, is that you may actually be losing money by putting your assets in investment vehicles that don't keep pace with inflation. The end result for you could be a loss in purchasing power.

The original Ford Mustang debuted in 1964, selling for roughly $2,300¹—a bargain even then. At that time, $100,000 invested in a six-month CD² would have provided you with $4,300 in income—nearly the cost of two Mustangs! Unfortunately, the income on the same $100,000 CD today would only provide you with enough income to pay for one tire for your cherished Mustang.

The Effects of Inflation: $100,000 6-Month CD Investment

Year	CD Rate ²	CD Income	MSRP Ford Mustang	Your CD Income Could Buy...
1964	4.30%	$4,300	$2,320 ¹	2 Ford Mustangs ($4,640)
1984	8.85%	$8,850	$7,089 ¹	1 Ford Mustang ($7,089 ¹)
2004	2.66%	$2,660	$18,345 ¹	Almost two sets of tires for your Ford Mustang ($2,856 ³)
2012	0.67%	$670	$22,200 ⁴	1 tire for your Ford Mustang ($435 ⁵)

CDs are insured by the FDIC, offer a fixed rate of return, and are generally designed for short-term savings needs. The principal value and investment return of investment securities (including mutual funds) are subject to risk, will fluctuate with changes in market conditions, are generally considered long-term investments, and are not suitable for all investors.
